LEVEL I SERVICE PARTS KIT NEW DEALER ORDER FORM

Required for Trained and Certified Air-Cooled Generac Authorized Service Dealers

Generac is committed to providing essential maintenance and support to consumers who purchase Generac automatic home standby generators. As a member of the Generac Authorized Service Dealer network, you fill a critical role by providing the highest level of service and support to our mutual customers. Stocking commonly used parts, separated into service kits, allows you to have the right items on-hand to provide prompt service. Required service kits are based on the training level of each dealership. Generac requires each dealership to stock service kits up to, and including, their highest level of training. This level kit is made available at a net cost of $1699.00*. To order, return this form with the service agreement, or place an order for service kit number A0001699506. The Level I Service Parts Kit is structured to support air-cooled product exclusively, covering both current and previous generation air-cooled models.

Price subject to change without notice and does not include freight charges.*
